Stellar simulation of a supernova formation

Based on modelling performed at NCI, researchers from CAASTRO can predict the quantities and locations of hundreds of chemical elements produced in a supernova explosion. Read more.

NCI and Monash University teamed up to present a series of high-performance computing and data courses for academic researchers in Victoria this month.

Frequently Asked Questions:

Why does my job run fine on my local machine, but not work on Raijin?

Windows can sometimes add invisible characters to your batch job script or input files that can interfere with Raijin. Find out more.

Why are my jobs still queueing?

There are several reasons why your jobs may not have started. Find out more in NCI's User Documentation portal.

Every month, NCI's User Services Team updates Raijin's software. This month, 19 new applications were installed, including:

- bazel 0.5.2
- elk/4.3.6
- payu/0.8a
